jacqueline.singh: hey jacqueline.singh: you there?
me: yep
jacqueline.singh: your article in the guardian... jacqueline.singh: it's misleading me: how so?
jacqueline.singh: while i appreciate the point you're trying to make jacqueline.singh: the predator malware hasn't been reporting anything out, first of all me: I know, and that's covered jacqueline.singh: secondly, it's not tracking the piloting of the planes jacqueline.singh: okay lemme continue reading me: as I note that USAF says it may just be random malware jacqueline.singh: remember that i have the inside track on this me: the point is that there shouldn't be random malware on drone piloting apparatus and that the shift from defense to offense jacqueline.singh: nothing's been leaked jacqueline.singh: furthermore the predator system is physically disconnected network-wise jacqueline.singh: it's not even capable of transmitting information out even if it wanted to me: that's fine, but it doesn't contradict anything I've written jacqueline.singh: hold jacqueline.singh: congratulatons on publishing through the Guardian btw jacqueline.singh: it's just the first line i have an issue with jacqueline.singh: but i guess readers can follow the link back to wired jacqueline.singh: what happened to your twitter account?
me: what do you mean?
jacqueline.singh: i can't find it.
jacqueline.singh: eh, now that i've finished the article, i can safely say i enjoyed it jacqueline.singh: i'm fucking tired of contractors bilking the government out of funds jacqueline.singh: and definitely not delivering what they're paying for me: @barrettbrownlol jacqueline.singh: wanna break a big story? i got a good one for you jacqueline.singh: got t jacqueline.singh: it me: go on jacqueline.singh: practically everyone where i work is on drugs, fucks local african prostitutes every night of the week, and the list goes on jacqueline.singh: half the people aren't even certified to hold the positions they hold per government reg jacqueline.singh: or work very much jacqueline.singh: the housing we live in costs $2k/month per person jacqueline.singh: etc etc etc etc jacqueline.singh: fraud, waste, abuse exemplified jacqueline.singh: i have serious ethical problems with what's going on here me: what country is this?

jacqueline.singh: so much that i've bought my plane ticket out of here jacqueline.singh: listen jacqueline.singh: i'll give you the details when i'm out me: okay jacqueline.singh: but i need you to stay mum on it until then jacqueline.singh: but i can spill the beans once i'm out jacqueline.singh: otherwise i can get seriously fucked.
me: any evidence you can acquire quietly while there, get jacqueline.singh: oh man jacqueline.singh: what kind of evidence would you neeD?
jacqueline.singh: documents/me: recorded convos jacqueline.singh: i don't know if i can do that me: any docs, receipts jacqueline.singh: hm me: okay, anything you're comfortable with that would prove certain assertions jacqueline.singh: okay
jacqueline.singh: i'll keep it in mind as i get ready to leave jacqueline.singh: i should be out of here jacqueline.singh: end of nov me: as for Guardian, I've been writing for them for a year, and can have them send out journalists if something merits it jacqueline.singh: planning on flying out nov 17th jacqueline.singh: havent told my employer yet jacqueline.singh: i'm trying to find the best way to alert authorities to the drug abuse jacqueline.singh: and crazy shit going on me: and am friends with various editors, so if there's a story here, won't be any problem getting it out jacqueline.singh: excessive foreign contact by cleared personel jacqueline.singh: personnel* jacqueline.singh: etc etc etc jacqueline.singh: okay
jacqueline.singh: keep my name OUT of anything jacqueline.singh: i still have a livelihood to earn with my clearance jacqueline.singh: if you can promise that then i'll talk to you about this once i'm done jacqueline.singh: this is a HUGE govt contractor involved me: yes, I have practice keeping people off the record jacqueline.singh: company involved is in the top 30 of all defense contractors jacqueline.singh: i want to blow the lid off this bullshit jacqueline.singh: tired of seeing govt funds go to waste on these people jacqueline.singh: they deserve better. me: well, if you can get me details later, I can guarantee it will be investigated and revealed me: and I can include in the book if it doesn't get sufficient coverage upon initially getting out jacqueline.singh: i just talked to my husband about this jacqueline.singh: he's on board jacqueline.singh: we have been trying to think of a way to expose this without putting ourselves in the line of fire as official "whistleblowers" jacqueline.singh: because we all know what happens to those.

me: one thing you might do is start keeping specific notes on details lest you forget them. to the extent that contact info for others involved, names, might be harder to get once home, get them now jacqueline.singh: will do jacqueline.singh: thanks. jacqueline.singh: i'll be in touch around the beginning of december with everything i have.
me: thank you, you're doing the right thing
